Headteacher: Mr Ben Jeffery

Wednesday 1st November 2017

Dear parents and carers,

Welcome back to the new half term!

A superb start to the year was made by all and we aim to keep the momentum rolling right up until the Christmas break. Thank you for all of your support so far. I really appreciate your involvement and feedback.

Here is a quick summary of things happening this term:

Maths:

We have made great progress with arithmetic skills and will be finishing all the core teaching of these this term. This will include: long division; long multiplication (including decimals); dividing fractions; BIDMAS and the order of operations and percentages.

We will also be covering other curriculum areas including geometry and measure. There will be an increased focus on reasoning skills and decoding worded problems.

English:

We will continue a keen focus on reading skills and the need for reasoning and evidence to support answers. This has been very successful so far this year and I can only see the children improving these skills.

Writing will be a mixture of fiction and non-fiction. We start the half term with non-fiction and writing a chronological report on the origins of Lego. A focus will be on suitable language and style for the genre and audience. We will then be looking at fiction and the children will be writing diary entries and missing sections of our new book: 'Grass'.

Class Dojo:

Please keep contacting me via CD if you have any concerns or questions.

P.E. / Outdoor learning

P.E. will continue to be on Thursdays and outdoor learning on every other Wednesday.

I am looking forward to another exciting term!

Kind regards,
Mr Scott
